PCNE Working Conference

Egmond aan Zee, The Netherlands

6-9 February 2019

Targeting patients and tailoring
Pharmaceutical care:
How to be outstanding

WELCOME

Pharmaceutical care is the pharmacist's contribution to the health of individual patients. In addition to compounding and dispensing medicines, providing comprehensive Pharmaceutical care services has become the main occupation of the profession. Pharmaceutical care aims to support the patient in his optimal medication use to improve individual health outcomes. This implies that the medication provided corresponds to each patient's needs and will be provided in the best possible way. However, not all patients need the most extensive services of Pharmaceutical care and consequently simple and feasible methods are needed to target those patients who will benefit most from tailored pharmaceutical care. Both processes, targeting as well as tailoring care need efficient organisation.

Our working conference will focus on a number of practical questions related to this topic:

- Which new tools have to be developed to assess the needs of individual patients?
- How can existing tools be optimized to target patients and to tailor pharmaceutical care?
- How should such tools be implemented in daily hospital and community pharmacy practice?

As usual, the workshops will last approximately 15 hours. This gives participants the possibility to be really creative and reach for results that can be used in their research. One workshop is more educational, aimed at starting researchers, and dealing with methodologies for research and aspects around obtaining funding. Participants must choose one workshop for the whole conference! We look forward to seeing you in Egmond aan Zee.

Martina Teichert (PCNE Chairman) and Jacqueline Hugtenburg (PCNE Secretary)
